A LEADER IN DEFENCE OF LIFE

Since the approval of euthanasia in Belgium in 2002, Benoit Beuselinck has taken several initiatives to show the shortcomings of this law. He is one of the initiators of the website euthanasiestop.be which since 2013 canalizes the opposition to the law in Belgium.

He actively contributed in 2014 to the mobilization of pediatricians against the extension of the law to children and in 2015 to the mobilization of psychiatrists against the application of euthanasia to patients with psychic suffering.

He is regularly invited as a speaker in bioethics conferences and to participate in debates on television as well as in radio programs.

PUBLICATIONS

He has published several studies on the meaning of life in the suffering person, based mainly on the theories of Viktor Frankl.

His most recent publication is a book chapter entitled "En Belgique: des médecins confrontés au sens de la vie et de la mort" in the collective work Prendre soin de ceux qui ne guériront pas. La médecine questionnée par l'incertitude et la fin de la vie, published under the direction of Elisabeth Zucman by editions Eres in Toulouse.
